Celia Levine is one of 13 women nominated as Bury Woman of the Year for her dedication to volunteering at Heathlands Village. She has been volunteering at the residential and nursing home for over 25 years and says 'It is as good for me as it is for the residents.'

Celia has helped out in many ways at Heathlands Village. She started in the coffee lounge and has since worked in the mini-mart, boutique, feeding residents, singing, shopping, concerts, film nights and quiz nights.

Celia helps out 4 days a week and her dedication, along with other volunteers enables Heathlands Village to ensure a busy timetable of activities for the residents.

If you are interested in being a volunteer at Heathlands Village please contact our Welfare Services department on 0161 7724705 or see our website for more information www.heathlandsvillage.co.uk

The 10th anniversary of Bury Woman of the Year run by Bury Hospice will be held at the Elizabethan Suite, Bury on Thursday 18th October at 10.30am. The winner will be awarded an award in the form of a statue of a lady and a portrait by Martin Stembridge.
